A WONDERFUL TALE

STORY OF THE GARDEN OF PULLIAM RIVALS THE GARDEN OF ALLAH

The story of the garden plat on the corner of Louise and Broadway is quite like a fairy story about the horn of plenty, but Claud Pulliam, who was mainly responsible for its being, is, like Caesar, "an honorable man" whose word can be depended upon. "So were they all, honorable men," of the three families who enjoyed the products and assisted in the cultivation.

Their most recent harvesting is the peanut crop grown on a space about 25x15 feet, which equals about a bushel of nuts.

A second crop of Irish potatoes is now growing on the ground from which the first one was harvested, and that first crop, after yielding tubers enough for the daily needs of the three families from the time they were big enough to use, turned out eight or ten bushels to provide for their needs while the second crop was growing.

No ground was wasted. Even the parkways were planted and the crop from the most extensive one, which runs the length of the lot, 150 feet, brought them eight bushels of sweet potatoes, which, while growing, had made a handsome covering for the ground.

There were tomatoes, too—all the three families desired for their table to use fresh and all they cared to can.

Ten dozen ears was the record of the sweet corn plantation; there were fifteen "messes" of the lima beans; 150 musk melons, more than they could possibly eat, and peppers, beets, cucumbers and onions galore.

When asked for the cost, Mr. Pulliam's account of expense ran something like this:

Water in excess of minimum	$1.25
Plowing	1.50
Sweet potato plants	1.25
Seed potatoes	2.20
Tomato plants	.30
Peppers	.30
Other seeds	.50
Total	$7.30

The labor of cultivation and irrigating they took by turns and enjoyed, so that was clear profit.

They figure that the peanuts

are worth	$ 6.00
Sweet potatoes	15.00
Irish potatoes	15.00
Surplus stock on hand	$36.00

Also on hand yet to be harvested a second crop of Irish potatoes, a planting of sweet potatoes in the front parkway, a crop of onions, and scattering products .

It sounds too good to be true, but the visible evidences sustain the testimony of the gardeners and demonstrate that lot gardening pays in Glendale.

INFANT CHILD TAKEN

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cole, of 501 North Louise street, died this morning. The babe was born October 7 and was a sturdy little fellow and got along splendidly except for a development of valvular heart trouble which finally caused his death. Mr. Cole is with the Los Angeles Examiner. Mrs. Cole is the daughter of J. B. Doner and was for several years the soloist for the Christion Church. Their sorrow is felt deeply by a host of friends.

HEART TURNS TO HOME

W. N. PIERCE SENDS GREETING TO BROTHERS IN THE ELKS' LODGE

Somewhere in France,
Sept. 25, 1918.

Brother Secretary and Brothers of 1289: Have been trying to get a chance to drop you a line for some time. Arrived O. K. August 28, feeling fine.

I certainly wish for some of the good old days at Glendale. I am a long way from home, but my heart is with you all, on Monday nights especially. The wine flows like water here. I met a little boy going to work. He had a piece of French bread in one pocket and a bottle of wine in the other; so I think we don't know how well off we are by the side of poor old France.

I haven't had a chance to see any of the other brothers yet.

Please reserve one chair in the old rough-neck corner for me, for I am going to be hardy when I get back. Very best wishes to you all. Fraternally yours,

W. N. PIERCE,

144th F. A., Battery D, A. E. F., France, U. S. Army.

BRITAIN'S WAR EFFORT

ENGLAND'S PART IN THE GREAT STRUGGLE NOT YET FULLY APPRECIATED

Alexander McDonald of 218 No. Louise street, who is a native of Canada asks us to give space to the following article which was published in the Toronto Globe of July 11, 1918.

The magnitude of Britain's world-wide war effort was described tersely and luminously by Lord Curzon in a speech at Gray's Inn Hall:

"We were fighting seven distinct campaigns ourselves—in France and Flanders, Italy, Saloniki, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Persia, and Egypt. Thousands of our men had shed their blood for the defense and emancipation of other lands. We had proved ourselves to be the knights-errant of civilization. We had been the feeder, the clothier, the baker, the armorer, and the universal provider of the Allies, and without our aid the superb effort could not have been put forward by France. We carried over 50 per cent of the coal by which the furnaces and forges, the railways., the arsenals of France were fed, and 60 per cent of the cereals which kept her army and people, and we had one million tons of shipping in the service of France at that moment. We also had half a million tons of shipping in the service of Italy, and we had carried small arms, ammunition, machine guns, blankets, socks, wool, cotton and jute, the latter to clothe the soldiers of France and her people. We had sent France's entire supply of frozen meat and petrol to Saloniki.

"What we have done for France we have done for all the Allies. Since the war we have carried twenty-four million tons of stores for the Allies, and the total value of our shipping contracts for them was seventeen millions sterling. Northampton, Ketterring, and Leicester had provided the footgear for the Allies, and had turned out altogether sixty million boots. We had supplied 2,000,000 respirators to the Italian army to enable them to breathe the air of victory in the forthcoming twelve months. We had dislocated our trade, reduced our own consumption, rationed our coal, and sold or pledged our British securities and incurred losses in this respect in many parts of the world.

"We were sometimes reproached for the number of men kept in this country; but they were retained because they were carrying out invaluable and necessary service to the Allies. At present there are 260, 000 men in this country engaged exclusively in the industrial service of the Allies and 375,000 digging coal. One million men were doing industrial work for the Admiralty, and one and a half million men were engaged in munition work, a large proportion working not for us alone, but for the Allies as well. When they contemplated these services it was remarkable that our armies were so large. Our effort was sufficiently great to justify us in asking that it should be made known both to our own people and to our Allies."

The last sentence of this passage should find an echo in every country. Great Britain's entrance into the war saved the world and civilization. But for British resistance the Hun would have had continental Europe under his heel, despite all the valor of France, and he would have proceeded to organize his power for universal domination. His design was broken by the British stubbornness, to which the Kaiser paid angry tribute in his conversation with Ambassador Gerard. History will do justice to the part Britain has played, but her miraculous exertions, military, naval, industrial, are not yet fully appreciated except by serious students of the war, because the gaze of nations has been fixed on the drama and glamor of the battlefields, which have obscured other essential factors in the strength of the Allied cause. The greatest of these has been the British mastery of the seas.

DEATH OF WM. B. GAYLORD

William B. Gaylord, long a resident of this section of the valley, passed away at his home, 1134 East Lexington Drive, Friday, Nov. 22, after a long period of invalidism. He was born in the state of New York, Feb. 5, 1842, hence was over 76 years of age at the time of his death. The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hattie Gaylord, and one son who is ill in San Diego and will be unable to be present at the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord came to Glendale twelve years ago and have been prominent in church and temperance work.

Funeral services, in charge of the Pulliam Undertaking Co., will be held at the First Methodist Church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

GERMAN FLEET SURRENDER NOT DRAMATIC

U. S. S. ARKANSAS ESCORTS BATTLE CRUISER HINDENBURG TO FIRTH OF FORTH

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Aboard the U. S. S. Arkansas, Nov. 22.—Seventy German warships today lie in berths in the Firth of Forth, surrounded by two hundred Allied warships, which will guard them until articles of peace are signed. German officers command these vessels and they are manned by German crews, but they are without ammunition and have been powerless for harm since they surrendered yesterday.

The surrender was not a particularly dramatic spectacle. The battle cruiser Seyditz was the first German ship to appear out of the mist of the North Sea and passed down along the long line of waiting Allied warships. Then came the Moltke, Hindenberg, Derfflinger and Zander Pann, in single file, followed by light cruisers and destroyers, all in single file. As each vessel passed an Allied warship of equal class steamed forward and escorted the German ship to the Firth of Forth. The Arkansas escorted the battle cruiser Hindenberg.

PRESIDENT TO FIGHT BOLSHEVISM

MAY SET FORTH DEMOCRATIC AIMS OF THE ALLIES IN SPEECHES IN ITALY AND ENGLAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Friends of President Wilson today intimated that the President plans to take an active part in the fight against Bolshevism while he is in Europe. He is expected to make speeches in Italy, and probably in England, setting forth the aims of the associated governments to uphold the cause of free peoples and support law and order.

It is expected he will sound the keynote of these speeches either in his message to Congress or in another speech before leaving.

It was learned today that Russia was trying to secure a seat at the peace table, maintaining that it now has a stable government.

President Wilson's trip to Europe will be his first since 1908, when he toured England on a bicycle.

HENRY FORD GIVES UP MANAGEMENT OF BUSINESS TO GIVE HIS TIME TO PUBLISHING NATIONAL WEEKLY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Detroit, Nov. 22.—Henry Ford is planning retirement from the active management of the Ford Motor Company, it was learned today, and will devote his entire time to the publication of a national weekly newspaper. His son will succeed him as head of the motor car company.

BELGIANS MAD WITH JOY

KING ALBERT AND HIS QUEEN CHEERED AS THEY ENTER FLAG-DECORATED BRUSSELS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Brussels, Nov. 22.—King Albert of Belgium triumphantly entered the city this morning with his queen and their children. Bands played and the joy-mad populace shouted and cheered as the king rode through the flag-decorated streets. A great celebration now is in progress.

BIG INCREASE IN U. S. NAVY

ADMIRAL TAYLOR SAYS IT WILL BE DOUBLE ITS SIZE AT OUTBREAK OF WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Admiral Taylor, chief naval constructor, today told the house naval committee that by July, 1920, the American navy will be twice as large as it was before the outbreak of the war. He did not include in this statement 350 modern submarine chasers which the navy expects to sell or put out of commission. Destroyers represent the bulk of the increase. One hundred are now in commission and 240 more will be in commission in the next eighteen months, making the United States' destroyer force nearly equal to that of England.

JOHN D. RYAN TENDERS RESIGNATION

Washington, Nov. 22.—John D. Ryan has resigned as head of aircraft production division and as second assistant secretary of war.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

OFFICER GARWOOD ASKS REINSTATEMENT—AUDITOR SUBMITS HIS REPORT

The board of trustees met in regular session Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock, Chairman Woodberry and Trustees Henry, Jackson, Muhleman and Shaw being present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting of Nov. 14, and also of the adjourned meeting of Nov. 16, 1918, were read and approved.

An application was presented from Kenneth Whaley for permission to hunt and shoot within the city limits, particularly in the neighborhood of Glendale wash and the foothills, and upon the motion of Trustee Henry the same was ordered to be granted.

An application was filed from C. A. Beeson and son of Lancaster, Cal., for permission to operate auto trucks through and upon the streets of the city of Glendale over the applicant's established route between the city of Los Angeles and the town of Lancaster. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the same was referred to the city attorney for an opinion as to whether any such permit is required.

An application was read from L. H. Garwood, requesting that he be reinstated as motorcycle officer for the city of Glendale. There were present in the audience a considerable number of Glendale citizens representing the auto industry, and in behalf of those present S. C. Packer and Dr. Steelman addressed the board, requesting that the petition of Officer Garwood for reinstatement receive the favorable action of the board. Trustee Henry made a motion, which was seconded by Trustee Jackson, that the request of Mr. Garwood be granted, and that his services be retained at least until Jan. 1, 1919. Trustee Muhleman offered a substitute motion, which was seconded by Trustee Shaw, to the effect that the matter be referred to the committee of the whole. Said substitute motion, being voted upon, was adopted, all voting aye. A vote on the original motion to refer to the committee of the whole was then adopted, all voting aye.

Mr. McFarland, attorney for the Glendale-Montrose Railway Co., appeared before the board in regard to a franchise which that company desires to secure, combining in one franchise the two branches of the road, desiring also to change the description of the right-of-way so as to agree more exactly with the present conditions. The matter was discussed informally, but no action was taken.

Arthur M. Loomis, the accountant who had been employed to audit the books for the city government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, submitted his typewritten report in triplicate and the same was referred to the finance committee.

The clerk called the attention of the board to the affidavit of Ella C. Welch, a soldier's widow, only recently filed, in which she claimed exemption from taxation of her property to the extent of $1,000 as provided for by law. On motion of Trustee Muhleman it was ordered that the affidavit

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A few high school students are absent from their places, but the majority are in attendance and seemingly in splendid health. Principal George U. Moyse has been kept at home by the illness of his son, Hollis, who is now sufficiently recovered to be planning to return to school Monday.

No plan for making up the time lost by the embargo has yet been decided upon, but the matter will be taken up at a faculty meeting which will be held Monday afternoon. It is probable that the Christmas holidays will be eliminated except Christmas Day, and the week devoted customarily to teachers' institutes will also be cut out, but other methods of making good on the time lost will also be considered.

The boys are mourning because of the havoc made with their football schedules. No match games are possible because there are as yet no schools in session with whom they can play, but they are trying now to arrange for a Thanksgiving game.

Business Manager Oliver reports a considerable gain in attendance, eight students who are new comers in the city having enrolled this week.

Mrs. Bement, head of the sewing department, says her classes are again at work, with the exception of the special students, who perhaps do not realize that work has been resumed. For their benefit she wishes the Evening News to announce that there will be instruction in millinery for special students Monday and Tuesday afternoons and dressmaking the rest of the week from 2 to 3:30.

VICTORY THANKSGIVING

MRS. DANIEL CAMPBELL PROVIDES CELEBRATION FOR RELIEF COMMITTEE

A very profitable and inspiring meeting was held by the war relief committee at the home of Mrs. Dan Campbell on Thursday. The forenoon was given to work on surgeons' aprons and on dresses for French and Belgian children.

At noon the ladies gathered around two tables, on which the lunches they had brought were spread, and hot coffee was served by Mrs. Campbell.

Following the luncheon a business session was held, over which Mrs. Beach presided, at which the ladies decided that one of their two monthly meetings shall be held at the work room of the Red Cross chapter hereafter, the other at the home of some member.

The ladies then enjoyed a Victory Thanksgiving program arranged by the hostess, which opened with the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner and closed with the Victrola record of "Come, All Ye Faithful," as sung by McCormick.

The part played in the war by the various nations was then reviewed by the ladies to whom the subject had been assigned.

Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, ably presented the case of Russia, Japan, Serbia, Rumania and Japan; Mrs. Charles Temple, Italy; Mrs. Beach, France; Mrs. D. H. Smith, Belgium. Others who were expected to speak for Great Britain and her colonies were unable to be present, so the hostess told something of the work of England, Ireland, Scotland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, etc.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett very satisfactorily presented the contributions made by the United States.

The Campbell home was beautifully decorated with the flags of the Allies for the occasion, and all present felt their patriotism had been strengthened by the appropriate service.

DEATH OF D. D. GRIFFIN

Duane D. Griffin, father of Mrs. George Hastings, passed away Thursday evening, Nov. 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hastings, 509 North Maryland avenue, where he made his home. Mr. Griffin was born in New York state, but had lived here for a number of years. His age at the time of his death was 74 years, 9 months and 18 days. Mr. Griffin's father-in-law, John T. Knox, passed away in Glendale about two and a half years ago at the age of 99, and Mrs. Griffin died six months ago.

Funeral services will be private and will be held at the Pulliam Undertaking parlors. The time will likely be 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, if the grandson, George Hastings, Jr., who is in service at San Pedro, can get leave at that time.

PASTOR HAS RECOVERED

Friends of Rev. A. William Goetz, pastor of the Occult Science of Christ Church, will be glad to welcome him back in his pulpit Sunday evening. He will lecture on the realities of life.

VISIT NEW YORK

DREYER BOYS ARE SHOWN THE SIGHTS OF METROPOLIS OF THE EAST

Mrs. H. H. Dreyer of Montebello, formerly of Glendale, was transacting business and visiting friends here this week. Mrs. Dreyer reports that her two sons, William and Henry, who are in the navy and have been stationed in the canal zone, have recently spent a month in New York while their ship was in dry dock being repaired. William is a gunner on a small boat and Henry is a pointer on the same craft. They have enjoyed life in the tropics immensely, having been stationed at Cristobal. However, they were nothing loathe to take the cruise around to New York City. They write that they were very elaborately entertained by the people while in port there. They were taken to all kinds of shows and shown all the principal sights of the big city with no expense to themselves.

Mrs. Dreyer has not heard from the boys since the armistice was signed, but hopes they will be discharged so they may continue their education, as both boys are very young.

Mrs. Dreyer also reports that her son, Francis, had a very severe attack of influenza and lost eighteen pounds. He is now fully recovered, however, and has returned to school.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1918

IT TOOK TALK TOO TO BEAT THESE GERMANS

(By United Press)

Paris, Nov. 3. (By Mail).—The immensity of the labors of the auxiliary organizations of the American army during a big battle are shown by the work of 3 signal corps sections in one of the last battles on the American sector.

In 3 weeks one field signal battalion installed 32 switchboards. With the aid of an infantry signal platoon this battalion laid 169 miles of wire, repaired 28 miles of it, took over 23 miles from the French and recovered 131 miles of abandoned wire.

At the same time during the same battle another artillery signal section installed 49 switchboards and 149 telephones, laid 136 miles of new wire and took over and repaired 81 miles of lines. All of this work was done during the actual fighting operations.

By use of superimposed circuits and special equipment the signal corps in France is getting nearly 3 times more service from their wires than before. Through operation of special equipment the signal corps sends as many as 4 messages at one time over the same single wire in each direction. For example, it can put on 4 signal wires a maximum of 32 telegraph messages at the same time. Or on these same wires it can handle 24 telegrams and 3 telephone connections.

The amount of telephonic and telegraphic communication going on continuously in communication going on tinuously in the expeditionary forces is enormous. The wires of the American signal corps are strung across France in every direction. In case of necessity a connection can be made within a few minutes from the front lines to the base ports hundreds of miles away. One of the big telephone offices on the lines of communication has facilities capable of caring for a population of 2,000,000 people back home.

of Mrs. Welch be accepted and the tax exemption made as if filed in strict accordance with the law.

The city manager reported that the county of Los Angeles had sold a portion of its flood control bond issue and as a result the sum of $20,000 had been provided for work in which the city of Glendale is directly interested. In connection with this proposed work of flood control the city manager recommended that a certificate of title be prepared and furnished Mr. Walker for the lot which is to be conveyed to him by the city of Glendale in exchange for a lot in the wash owned by Mr. Walker. In this connection the city attorney had previously prepared a resolution covering the case and providing for the payment to Mr. Alfred G. Walker of the sum of $400 in cash in connection with the exchange referred to above; providing further that the deed to this property be made to the Los Angeles Flood Control District; being a certain strip of land referred to as tract No. 2 described in the resolution. On motion of Trustee Henry this resolution was adopted as resolution No. 1050.

The city manager reported upon the unsatisfactory service recently given in the collection of garbage and that steps had been taken to remedy the defects of this system. He further reported briefly upon street repairs and the emergency hospital. His statement in regard to the latter shows that the hospital has at present five patients, requiring the services of the nurse and a helper who are at present employed.

The city attorney reported that the case of Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshell against the city had been settled and the action dismissed.

In regard to the complaint filed by the city clerk with the board in regard to the fact that certain fees due to him as registrar of vital statistics had been held up by the county auditor, he had taken up the matter with the auditor of the county, who had finally agreed to pay over the money in accordance with the city attorney's interpretation of the law.

Demands were reported favorably upon by the finance committee and on motion of Trustee Shaw warrants were ordered to be issued in payment of same.

On motion of Trustee Henry, it was ordered that when the board adjourn it would be to meet at 8 a. m. on Tuesday, Nov. 26, 1918.

FAMOUS SOLDIER POET OF ITALY

Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italy's famous poet, whose flying feats are the admiration of his countrymen, has not the slightest fear of death, and he has a presentiment that he will die in action. To a friend who interviewed him he remarked: "My worldly life is ended. What can I do after the war? I shall write no more. Every time I go off on an expedition I hope it will by my last. That is the reason for my fearlessness. The finest end I wish for is to die for my country."

Personals

Mrs. James and family, all of whom have had influenza, are now over it and getting well rapidly.

New residents of Glendale are Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips and mother, Mrs. E. J. Ayres, who came from Los Angeles. They are located at 445 Pioneer Drive.

Jason Kilgore of 507 Vine street, who has been released from the service of Uncle Sam, will leave soon for San Francisco, where he is going into commercial work in the radio line.

Superintendent Shults reports that an official statement will be published Saturday of the decision of the trustees of Glendale city schools in regard to reopening them for school work.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duffield are motoring to Pasadena today (Thursday) to visit the Red Cross chapter there, where they will be luncheon guests of Mrs. James Neill of Pasadena.

Thursday was the eighteenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Campbell of North Glendale. It was quietly celebrated with a family dinner, at which Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell and their two children were guests.

Believing that he was completely restored, George Sawyer, head of the commercial department of the High school, visited the office of Dr. Chase on Wednesday to secure a certificate of health. The exertion brought on a slight relapse. He is better, however, and hopes soon to be able to return to school.

Mrs. Holman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Todd, and her little daughter, have been quite ill of influenza, but are much better. Mrs. Todd reports the receipt of letters from her two boys who are together in France. Their last communications were dated October 24. They were both well at that time and very busy trucking for the army.

The exemption board has received this morning certificates accepting the services of two men who volunteered for coast artiilery service and who were inducted the last of October and first of November. The men are Guy Emerson Wright of this city and John Ernest Luttage of Burbank. It would seem, therefore, that, in spite of the discharges, men are still wanted.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Harper of Denver, Colorado, arrived Tuesday and are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Phillips of Harvard street. They have made several visits to Glendale and each time have been more favorably impressed. They have now leased a house on North Louise street and have decided to make their permanent home here.

Mrs. Danford, city librarian, says that never before has she heard so many expressions of appreciation of the library as have been uttered since it reopened. It took an embargo such as we have had to make citizens realize what their privileges are. Miss Stauffacher has been kept at home this week by the illness of her mother. Her place at the library has been taken by Miss Gladys Rivers.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club will hold a session next Tuesday, the first since the embargo was laid on Glendale, and it will probably be a very happy session. A Red Cross Thanksgiving Day program has been arranged which includes an address by Mrs. Frank Stephens on "Women in War Work" and musical numbers by John Marquardt, violinist; Mrs. Herman West, vocalist, nad Miss Gertrude Champlain, pianiste.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hyatt of West Broadway leave this morning on the Lark for the north. They will stop in San Francisco to visit in the home of their daughter, where they will spend Thanksgiving and will then go on to Spokane, where they resided for eleven years and where they have a son and many old friends. They set no limit to their stay, except that they will remain until they get homesick for Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Jones of South Central avenue, who have been residents of this city for a number of years, have leased their home for a year and are moving to Los Angeles Saturday. They will be much missed in the community, but their friends hope they will not sever all their social connections. Mrs. Jones has resigned the chairmanship of the school chapter committee of the Red Cross, in which she has done very efficient work.

Mrs. Fred Myton, chairman of shoes for the conservation department of the Junior Red Cross, announces that large numbers of shoes have been donated which can be given away to persons in Glendale who have need of them. Her telephone number is 476-R. Any one who wishes to communicate with her in regard to the matter can do so by calling up that number, and she will be glad to meet them at the conservation headquarters and show the stock

OPEN EVENINGS

READS LIKE A ROMANCE WAR'S AFTERMATH

It was in the early 1918's. Me and two more guys were strolling quietly along in No Man's Land, when we hears a noise like a regiment of soldiers on the march. My eyesight, which was sharper than the others', discerned through the thick fog a host of the enemy advancing to surprise our company. We decided quickly to try and capture the whole shooting match. Tim, a big Texan, as big as a house, was stationed at the left, and Bill, a descendant of Buffalo, took his station on the right, while myself, with more nerve than a dentist's shop, advanced bravely to the front and commanded the whole bunch of Kamerads to surrender. Forget how many thousands there were, but we were highly complimented by our general satisfaction. We rested that night in a dugout of a shell 'ole, and wondered how long it would be before we were back again in dear old Blighty drinkin' Booth's Better Blend Coffee.

MR. AND MRS. H. R. SIBLEY GIVE INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF RECENT TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Sibley of Penn street have just returned from a very pleasant tour of the middle west in which they visited many relatives and old friends. Columbus, Ind., was their farthest point east. They had intended to go on to Pittsburgh, Buffalo and New York, but reports of the illness of their daughter, Mrs. S. W. James of West Maple street, this city, made them return to Chicago and come directly home from there via the Santa Fe. At Columbus, Ind., they visited Mr. Sibley's brother, who is proprietor of a daily and weekly newspaper there. They also went to East St. Louis and from there to Greenville, Ill., the old home of Mrs. Sibley. From that city they journeyed to Terre Haute and Indianapolis, where they were just in time for the big premature celebration of the signing of the armistice, over which the city went wild. They had ideal weather and found the country wonderfully prosperous, with bumper crops of wheat, corn and other staples everywhere they went. The Pullman on which they returned was crowded with tourists, all of them substantial people of some means, bound for California, where they were planning to make their permanent homes. Mrs. Sibley believes there will be a big influx of new residents now that the war is over, because of our favorable climatic conditions and also because the cost of living here is much lower than they found it in the middle west. Though they arrived in a rain storm, they were glad to see the precipitation and glad to get back to Glendale.

Members of the French class established some weeks ago by Professor Briois of Los Angeles had their first meeting since the lifting of the ban at the Intermediate school on Thursday afternoon at 4:30. There was an excellent attendance and good work was done by the pupils, who are glad to do on with their work.

Twelve to fifteen members of the "Live Cole Class" of the Central Christian Church met at the parsonage Thursday evening, and after a business session at which plans were made for extending the class membership, spent a pleasant social evening of games and other diversions. refreshments being served by the pastor's wife.

Ben Durham, who recently re-enlisted in the United States navy, and who has been enjoying a thirty-day furlough with his parents here, has the rank of quartermaster, first class. He is going to San Pedro Saturday and hopes to be taken on at the submarine base instead of being assigned to a ship. Such a change would give him a chance to get home oftener.

EFFICIENT ADVERTISING

The almost unprecedented demand for poultry and the value of the Evening News as an advertising medium have again been demonstrated in the experience of J. J. Joseph, who offered chickens for sale through the columns of this paper, and immediately sold them. Mrs. Joseph declares that from the way their phone has been rung by the anxious inquirers, she believes they could have sold ten thousand. She registered an appeal to have the advertising stopped.

Suppose the Candy Factories Were Closed!

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY

Would You Be Benefited?

You would get one-third pound more sugar per month—for that's the amount per person used by candy manufacturers. But is that worth while?

Is it worth while to throw 200,000 people (mostly women) out of work and destroy an industry that has $110,000,000 invested, merely that you may have two and one-half tablespoons of sugar more a month for your coffee or fruit?

Yet those are the figures of the United States Food Administration, which says—"the candy industry has been restricted to a point beyond which further reduction in the use of sugar will do more harm than good." "Candy manufacturers have already suffered greater privation than individual householders."

Please remember that candy is not a luxury, but a pure, wholesome food containing sugar, fruit, nuts, raisins, chocolate and other ingredients. It supplies a wonderful amount of quick fuel for the human system.

Candy is the universal food; it speaks all languages; it dries the tears in the eyes of little children; wreathes the faces of old age in smiles; it is the unspoken message of the lover to his sweetheart; it brings joy to the home; it is healthful and nourishing. Can as much be said for any other food? Eat candy—but eat it moderately.

AN ISLAND OF PROMISE

Can you name, off-hand, the second largest island in the wide Pacific? It has a productive wealth that is unbounded, and opportunities for various enterprises that some day will be fully realized.

In its crown colony days this island was known as British New Guinea. Today it is called Paupua. The world in general does not know a great deal about this unusual tropical country, which lies close to Australia and which, now self-governed, has experienced the benefits of wise administration.

Paupua has an area of more than 50,000 square miles; a magnificent territory of palms and plantations, of clean, shining beaches, and imposing mountains. The potential commercial wealth of this island is bound to attract white men more and more, when its wealth of opportunities for development, its ideal climatic condition, and its bountiful supply of intelligent labor become more widely known.

To some people Paupua is the most disappointing place in the world, and for no other reason than that it is found to be something more than a huge coral reef covered with graceful palms. What the tourist pamphlets, with their glowing phrases, say about Paupua is substante correct. But it is something more than an island paradise of unmatched scenery—it is a land overflowing with milk and honey of commercial possibilities.

Here in this empire if the tropics many men are delving silently, earnestly, building solidly the foundation of a great commercial future. Private enterprise is doing amazing things today in developing Paupua's natural resources and when its capital in ample amounts finds its way to these shores the rich, idle soil of thousands of acres will surprise the world.

The island's chief claim to wealth lies in its harvests of cocoanut, rubber, sisal hemp and tobacco. Its mineral wealth lies practically untouched. It is proudly stated that not one enterprise started there has failed.—Sunset.

VICTORY

By Charles B. Driscoll
(Written for the United Press)

He hath put down the mighty from power,
He hath humbled the proud in the dust,
He hath made the oppressor to cower,
And exalted the lowly and just.

He hath smitten the king from his throne,
And the princes are scattered afield;
The hand of the Lord hath been shown,
And the wounds of his people are healed.

The Lord, who is righteous and great,
In his wroth hath laid tyranny low,
Henceforth let the cohorts of Hate
Come not forth from the hell-pits below.

We thank thee, Omnipotent Will,
That the great guns are silent again;
May their voices forever be still,
And thine be the glory. Amen.

NEW LEAGUE FAVORS OLD STYLE SPANKING

(By United Press)

London, Nov. 3. (By Mail).—England's "young hopefuls" are making adults turn pessimist.

Parents who have hitherto adopted the gentle-but-firm attitude and deprecated the practice of corporal punishment now begin to see that the old-fashioned form of whipping is not without its advantages.

In order to solve the "naughty children problem" there has come into being the Corporal Correction League, and mothers of all classes and creeds are invited to apply for a free membership card, bearing the stimulating mottoes: "Whipping, to be effective should be a science, not a 'slogging' display," and "A work of national importance: Making naughty children good."

A leaflet circulated in exposition of the league sets forth the theory that first you catch your naughty child and then you whip it. The founder and director apparently thinks the child's life should be spared for he says:

"Do not hit your children on the head, which is dangerous, but (with your hand only) whip them, over your knee as our grandmothers did, where, and in the humbling way that they will feel shame. And show no temper over any of your actions, stopping in the middle of the chastisement to tell the child again—having told it before—why it is being punished."

He realizes that children are regular little gluttons for information.

This mode of punishment is to be continued until the child attains 14 years of age, and the founder of the league asserts that "these whippings are sure to bring increased peace into the home, and so keep down worries."

In this connection it is comforting to recall that Charles Lamb, the famous essayist, used to drink in silence to the memory of King Herod every time the children came down after dinner, which goes to prove that youngsters were youngsters long before there were movies.

ROMANCE SMOOTHS WAY TO DEATH FOR YOUNG HERO

(By United Press)

London, Nov. 15, (By Mail).—A fairhaired, blue-eyed boy from the North Country lay dying for 6 months in the English hospital.

He had been brought back from France shot through the spine, and was a hopeless case from the beginning.

During those long and dreary 6 months he never let one word of complaint escape him, and he seemed always to be smiling. He had one great consolation; he had become acquainted with the Waverly novels, and in his last days he was reading "Ivanhoe." Gradually he became too weak to read, and the nurse would take the book and read aloud to him.

She was reading on the last day of all when the "padre" came and his father and mother were at the bedside, and being a good lad, he kissed his parents affectionately and listened very attentively to the prayers, but the moment they were over he turned to the nurse and said in a whisper, "Please go on reading, and as fast as you can, for I do so want to know the end."

And so she read him out of the world with the great fight of Bois-Guilbert and Ivanhoe, while the spirit of Walter Scott hovered about the deathbed.

SEEMED LIKE GREAT SILENCE TO CHICAGOAN

(By United Press)

Paris, Nov.3 (By Mail).—During a heavy barrage one night in the St. Mihiel scrap an officer passed a rolling kitchen drawn out at the side of the road up near the front. In the glow of a little camp-fire he could see the cook carefully winding an alarm clock, and holding the dial down to the fire to set the alarm bell. The gun chorus was in full tongue and sleep seemed impossible.

"What's the big idea?" shouted the officer.

"I wanta be sure of waking up when the boys go over in the morning," grinned the cook. "I used to work in an all-night restaurant in the railroad yards in Chicago and a little noise like this doesn't disturb me."
